JANUARY

IT'S OUR NEVADA'S ANNIVERSARY

Four years ago this month, we published the first Our Nevada magazine with a cover photo like the one you see on this month's cover.

Some of the people may be different, but the organizations they represent are the same.

Mayor Ryan Condon represents the City of Nevada.

Dr. Steve Gray represents the Nevada School District.

Nate Thompson represents Story Medical Center.

Matt Runge represents the Nevada Economic Development Council.

Linda Murken represents Story County.

Julie Samson represents Main Street Nevada.

These six organizations came together four years ago to make this publication happen, and each organization provides funds to publish and distribute the Our Nevada magazine each month. The magazine is meant to provide residents with information that these community leadership organizations believe is important and/or informative to residents who live in the greater Nevada community.

As we shared in the January issue, we have introduced a Facebook page to expand our messaging as we work through our fifth year of this endeavor.

We believe producing Our Nevada has been worth it. We believe that many people utilize the magazine to stay informed. We believe the partnerships that have made this publication possible are an example of the teamwork that makes Nevada a great place to live.

ABOUT OUR NEVADA

Our Nevada is a monthly joint publication between the City of Nevada, Nevada Community School District, Story County Medical Center, Story County, NEDC, and Main Street Nevada.

Your Hometown Heartbeat

Main Street Nevada keeps our hometown's heart beating by supporting local businesses, revitalizing downtown, and creating places where our community comes together and thrives. Our organization is volunteer-driven, with an active volunteer Board of Directors. Each new year brings new leadership on the Main Street Nevada Board. This year's President and Vice President, whose roles started Jan. 1, are both local business owners. A big THANK YOU to our Past President, Christa Skaggs. Christa gave the Board some big goals and led by example. Her passion for the Main Street Nevada organization was felt and appreciated in big ways.

2026 PRESIDENT—JULIE SAMSON

Julie Samson, owner of Urban Roots Salon, has been on the Main Street Nevada Board of Directors for three years. She also serves on the Design Committee and has been instrumental in keeping our downtown planters looking good each season.

"I'm excited to serve as Main Street Nevada President because I believe in the power of a strong downtown. I am the business owner of Urban Roots Salon right here in the heart of Downtown Nevada. In 2026 I look forward to growing our community of business members, supporting local entrepreneurs, and creating a vibrant downtown that provides opportunity, connection, and livelihood for everyone."

2026 VICE PRESIDENT—JOE WAKEMAN

Joe Wakeman, owner of Berry Patch, is in his second year serving on the Main Street Nevada Board of Directors. Joe is also on the Design and Farmers Market Committees.

"I'm honored to step into the role of Vice President for Main Street Nevada and excited to help build on the incredible momentum already underway. In 2026, I look forward to strengthening our downtown partnerships, supporting projects that enhance the heart of our community, and helping bring new energy to the Farmers Market as part of that committee. Revitalizing the market and creating vibrant, welcoming experiences for residents and visitors will be a key focus, and I'm eager to help make it a highlight of Nevada's downtown."

Nevada Foundation gives out

The Nevada Foundation is proud to announce the completion of its first grant cycle for the Seasons of Giving fund, awarding a total of $24,000 to six local organizations dedicated to strengthening the Nevada community.

The Seasons of Giving fund was created with a clear mission: Together, with the entities and organizations that host and support many causes in our community, we can create a larger impact by collaborating on fundraising efforts and boosting awareness. This coordinated approach allows Nevada's generosity to work year-round, supporting a continuous cycle of giving where it's needed most.

Grant awards will be distributed across three of the fund's four focus areas:

Helping Hands – Supporting basic needs such as clothing, food insecurity, and shelter. Nonprofits receiving funding in this category are working directly with families and individuals to ensure every neighbor has access to essential resources.

Building Nevada – Enhancing community life through beautification and revitalization projects, arts and recreation opportunities, and essential services that help Nevada thrive and grow.

Capturing Kids' Hearts – Supporting youth through student assistance, childcare needs, and student development programs that foster healthy learning environments and brighter futures.

The Nevada Foundation is pleased to present grant awards to the following nonprofit organizations in our community:

1st 'Seasons of Giving' grants

Nevada Public Library is falling to 'pieces'

If you are a lover of jigsaw puzzles, then you're going to love what the Nevada Public Library has added to its collection.

A section of shelving in the library, near the fireplace area, is now dedicated to jigsaw puzzles that can be checked out by library patrons.

Assistant Library Director Danielle Schmitt has already organized several puzzle competitions, one in December and one this month, to go along with the introduction of puzzles available for check-out.

"Not every library has puzzles for checkout, so we're excited to be able to offer this," Danielle said. She noted that having puzzles as part of the library's offerings was not an idea she came up with, but was a discussion of previous library staff members. She's just lucky enough to be part of the current staff who get to enjoy watching children and adults look through and select puzzles they'd like to complete.

"Some of the puzzles will be for children, and the rest will be for adults. We have puzzles of various sizes for adults, with most being 500- and 1000-piece puzzles. A few puzzles are larger than 1000 pieces, and we still need to order some 300-piece puzzles," she said.

In looking at the puzzle boxes, some already shelved and others waiting on carts to be catalogued for check-out, you'll see a variety of content and brands. Most are new; some are already opened once but in excellent condition.

"The thing we want to stress most to those who check out puzzles is that we understand that puzzle pieces can be lost or can get damaged, and we would ask that people let us know if something like this has happened when they return the puzzle. This way we can pull it from the collection," Danielle said.

Having puzzles available to the public will be a learning process for the staff, but if all goes well, it could be a very enjoyable pastime for many. In fact, the library almost always has one or two puzzles in progress on a table at the back of the library. "We have several patrons who come in to work on the puzzles quite often," Danielle said.

She encourages puzzle enthusiasts to also watch the Library website's events page for more puzzle team competitions. The first one was "wild," she said. Seven teams of 2-4 people competed on different 500-piece puzzles. The winning team was finished in 43 minutes and the second-place team in 55 minutes. "The last two teams were within 30 seconds of each other," she noted, "and they had to run up and hit a button when they completed the puzzle, so it was fun to watch."

If you want a "piece" of the action — either competing or going your own pace at home — check in at the library, and check out the fun.

Assistant Library Director Danielle Schmitt shows one of the puzzles that has been tagged with all the necessary cataloging information and is ready for shelving.

The next puzzle competition takes place Monday, February 2, from 5:30-7:30 p.m. in the library meeting room. If you're seeing this in time, use the QR code to learn more. Up to 10 teams can compete and this time all will compete using the same puzzle, as a like-collection will be graciously loaned to the Nevada Public Library by the Ames Public Library.

Jobs, jobs, jobs...

It's early 2026, and if you're in the market for a career move, Nevada, Iowa and Story County as a whole often have great opportunities for you to consider.

For job seekers, the Nevada Economic Development Council offers use of a site managed by the Ames Regional Economic Alliance that emphasizes "living, working, and playing" in Ames (and Story County). The site allows people to search job openings by community, and at the start of this year, Nevada had around 25 jobs listed. (You'll find the Nevada listings specifically at: "liveinames.com/work/jobs/city-nevada/".)

"There are so many incredible opportunities in Nevada and the surrounding area for those new to the area and looking for employment, as well as those looking for a career change," said Brenda Dryer, Director of the NEDC.

Among the employers listing jobs on the site, the Nevada School District had a number of part- and full-time positions listed in January.

"Nevada Community School District offers a supportive atmosphere, community engagement, reasonable class sizes, competitive pay and benefits, fair employment practices, opportunities across educational roles and the chance to help shape student success in a positive, collaborative environment," said Dr. Steve Gray, Superintendent of Schools.

Gray said the district posts openings for a range of positions, from teachers and substitute teachers, to counselors, paraprofessionals and associates, to bus drivers, maintenance personnel, administrative assistants, coaches, kitchen crews and more.

"In a smaller community such as Nevada, staff has the ability to make a meaningful, visible impact on students' academic and personal growth. As a mid-size Iowa school district, NCSD is large enough to offer students a full array of programming, but small enough to allow for participation and personalization," Gray said. He encourages area residents to take a look at positions that are available in the Nevada School District and to be part of this forward-thinking culture.

The local hospital, Story Medical, is another of the community's larger employers and often has openings. Susan Schrader, Vice President of Human Resources at the hospital, said, "There's been a wide variety of positions open in recent months across clinical, support and administrative areas. Examples include Registered Nurses (inpatient, emergency, outpatient and senior care settings), Licensed Practical Nurses, Certified Nursing Assistants, Patient Care Technicians, paramedics, surgical technologists, cooks, and housekeepers. These opportunities span full-time, part-time, and PRN (as needed) roles."

The most common openings at the hospital of late have been for nursing and patient care support personnel, such as Registered Nurses, Licensed Practical Nurses, CNAs, and Patient Care Technicians.

Story Medical hires across a spectrum of educational and experience levels. "Some roles, like housekeeping, hospitality aide, and food service, may only require the individual to be at least 16 years of age," Schrader said. Of course, it goes without saying that many positions in a hospital do require certain licenses and/or certifications and advanced education.

Working at the local medical center can be rewarding, no matter the position one holds. "One of the things employees value most about working at Story Medical is the strong team atmosphere," Schrader said. "Staff members frequently share that there is a genuine sense of support. People help one another, step in when needed, and work together toward a shared purpose."

Schrader also believes hospital employees appreciate the opportunity to make a meaningful impact in a community-based healthcare organization. "Along with competitive benefits, professional development opportunities, and a culture that emphasizes teamwork, (we appreciate) caring for one another as well as our patients and residents."

In addition to these public entities, many of Nevada's businesses/industries also have openings posted too.

Dryer would like even more people to be able to see the great opportunities available in Nevada, Iowa. "Be sure to share the liveinames.com/work/jobs/city-nevada/ website with family and friends to help spread the word," she said.

Lillian Frideres selected as Samsung American Legion Scholar

Our community is proud to celebrate Lillian Frideres, who has been selected as a Samsung American Legion Scholar, a prestigious national honor sponsored by The American Legion and Samsung Electronics America. Lillian is one of only 10 students nationwide chosen for this distinction, placing her among an elite group recognized for outstanding academic achievement, leadership, and character.

As a Samsung American Legion Scholar, Lillian will receive a $10,000 scholarship to support her future educational goals. In addition, she will be formally recognized at The American Legion's national conference in Washington, D.C., this month.

She has also been invited to attend the Samsung American Legion Scholars Recognition Event while she is on her weeklong trip to Washington, D.C. She will join fellow scholars from across the country, meet with Congressional elected officials, and network with leaders from The American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary from her home state. The experience is designed to honor academic excellence while encouraging civic engagement and future leadership.

Recipient of the Samsung American Legion Scholarship, Lillian Frideres

The American Legion will cover all travel expenses for Lillian and one chaperone, who must be a parent or legal guardian. Lillian is looking forward to attending the recognition event, as it offers a meaningful opportunity to participate in a national celebration of achievement in addition to meeting others from across the country.

The school district believes Lillian Frideres is the first student from Nevada to receive this honor, making her accomplishment even more significant for our state and community. Her selection is a point of pride for her family, school, and the entire Nevada community. We congratulate Lillian on this remarkable achievement and look forward to the bright future ahead of her.

NEVADA CSD RATED AS A HIGH PERFORMING DISTRICT

This past fall, the Iowa Department of Education released School Performance Ratings for each school building in the state (see November 2025 edition of 'Our Nevada'). The DOE has now released District Performance Ratings for each of the 329 Iowa public school districts.

Music Parents Making an Impact

Nevada Music Parents continue to play an important role in supporting music and arts students across the district. Over the past semester, the organization has funded several meaningful projects that directly benefit students at every grade level.

Recent contributions include the purchase of a new grill for the concession stand, covering admission for all elementary students to attend The Nutcracker, paying dues for students selected for honors choir, band, Opus, and similar programs, and purchasing new computer equipment for the elementary music program.

Nevada Music Parents also provided new costumes for the color guard.

Looking ahead, the group is preparing for several major expenses. The high school band has grown rapidly and now needs 30 additional uniforms, with a fundraising goal of $25,000. Other upcoming needs include new music equipment for middle and high school programs and long-term plans to improve auditorium lighting. The organization also works to support individual students who may lack access to proper concert attire or equipment.

To help fund these efforts, Nevada Music Parents will host Tables and Tunes this month, a special fundraising event featuring desserts and a private student performance, including a preview from the upcoming musical.

Community members are encouraged to get involved or support the program. For more information, contact Crystal Sadler at nevadamusicparents@gmail.com, call 515-460-2149, or connect through the group's Facebook page. Donations through Venmo will be available soon.

Show Your Heart a Little Love

Keeping Your Lipids in Check Offers a Big Health Boost

During Heart Health Month in February, it's the perfect time to focus on one of the most critical factors in cardiovascular health—your lipids. Lipids, including cholesterol and triglycerides, play a key role in how your heart functions. Managing them properly can significantly reduce your risk of heart disease, stroke, and other serious conditions.

Why Lipids Matter

Lipids are fats found in your blood, and while your body needs some for essential functions, too much of the wrong kind can lead to problems. High levels of LDL (low-density lipoprotein), or "bad" cholesterol, can contribute to plaque buildup in the arteries, leading to blockages that increase the risk of heart attack and stroke. Meanwhile, HDL (high-density lipoprotein), or "good" cholesterol, helps remove excess cholesterol from the bloodstream.

"Maintaining healthy lipid levels is one of the best ways to protect your heart," says Jyl Wonnell, PA-C, of Story Medical Clinic—Nevada. "It's not just about cholesterol numbers—it's about creating a lifestyle that supports heart health for the long run."

How to Keep Your Lipids in Check

The good news is that small, manageable lifestyle changes can have a big impact on your heart health.

- Eat Heart-Healthy Foods: Incorporate more fruits, vegetables, whole grains, and lean proteins. Reduce saturated and trans fats found in processed foods.

- Exercise Regularly: Aim for at least 30 minutes of moderate exercise most days of the week. Walking, cycling, and swimming are great options.
- Maintain a Healthy Weight: Excess weight, especially around the abdomen, can raise LDL cholesterol and lower HDL cholesterol.
- Avoid Smoking and Limit Alcohol: Smoking lowers good cholesterol, while excessive alcohol consumption can raise triglyceride levels.
- Get Regular Screenings: "Routine cholesterol checks allow us to track your numbers and adjust your treatment plan as needed," Wonnell says. "Knowing your numbers is the first step in taking control of your heart health."

Medication and Additional Support

For some individuals, lifestyle changes alone may not be enough to keep lipid levels in a healthy range. In these cases, healthcare providers may recommend cholesterol-lowering medications, such as statins.

"Not everyone needs medication, but for those at higher risk, it can be an essential part of heart disease prevention," Wonnell explains. "Our goal is always to create a personalized plan that works best for each patient."

Take Charge of Your Heart Health

Heart disease remains the leading cause of death in the U.S., but taking steps to control your lipids can make a life-changing difference. By making simple, heart-healthy choices and partnering with your healthcare provider, you can keep your heart strong for years to come.

STILL TIME TO GET FLU SHOT

For millions of people every season, the flu can mean a fever, cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, muscle aches, fatigue, and miserable days spent in bed. However, flu also causes hundreds of thousands of hospitalizations, and thousands or sometimes tens of thousands of deaths.

The flu vaccine has proven effective in limiting the risk of serious complications. You can make an appointment for your shot by calling us in Nevada at 515-382-5413 or Maxwell at 515-387-8815.
